Joe's deserves a website as good as the haircuts.

Right now, people who look you up online land on a free page covered in Medicare and car-lease ads. Here's what they could see instead.

Today: ads from other companies, a stock photo, no services or prices, and "create your website!" in the footer.

Proposed: your name, your hours, a live "Open now" badge, online booking, one-tap calling, directions, and your services. No ads.

What you get

- A clean, fast website that works on every phone
- Your own web address (e.g. joesbarbercorona.com)
- Tap-to-call button and Google Maps directions
- Hours with a live open/closed status
- Online booking through Square Appointments (free plan)
- Services and prices, updated whenever you want
- Set up so Google shows your correct hours and info
- You own the domain and the site. No lock-in.
